I Had A Dream Second week of camp

From Faith's journal

Mon, June 27 I had a dream last night. I was crying and begging the camp kids to come to know Jesus. Camp was starting again today, I woke up knowing it was going to be a good week.

Tue, 28 We had some disruptions from a couple of kids, so I had bound Satan in the name and the Blood of Jesus.

Wed, 29 My heart is rejoicing. I can't sleep.

Like I've said many times in the past, Wednesday is magic night. The kids finally have the world out of their hearts and minds, the Holy Spirit has a chance to work. Boy did He work tonight!

It was a small week, but God knew who He wanted here. Eighteen came; we had four new ones and two that have not been in a while. Jesus moved all week, but tonight the flood gates opened.

On bonfire night, we shared about what God had done for us at camp. Then the salvation testimonies started. I encourage the kids to share about their salvation, so they will be used to sharing and so the unsaved kids will see that others are proud to have Jesus as Saviour. A few kids did not share and a couple did and what they said made me question their salvation. So I needed to take some talks before they went to bed.

I had already talked to all the kids. All but one claimed they were saved.

So one by one I took them aside. Haily (13) who has been coming for four years, didn't have a clear testimony. She thought being saved meant reading the Bible

Our morning prayer time was so much deeper this week!

We learned different ways to pray.

From singing to falling on our knees!

and praying. After talking and sharing, she understood, and asked Jesus to be her Savoir. Thank you Lord Jesus!

Then it was Felicity's (13) turn. (As I called her over, Cory comes up and says I'm next.) She is new this week. On Monday I had talked to her, she said she was a Christian and told me how and when. Later that day one of the boys came to me and said, "she tells me she's not." I knew I would talk to her again.

We talked some and I was at a loss, so I said, "Some of the kids told me you said you were not a Christian, why is that?" She paused before she answered, "I'm not but I want to be." She then prayed the sinner's prayer from her heart. Praise you Lord Jesus!

I next called for Cory who is 10 but he looks 8. He too had clearly told me about his salvation experience. So I wasn't sure what he wanted to talk about. As soon as we sat down on the conviction bench (as a girl named it years ago). He said, "I thought I was a Christian but I got to make sure!" Oh the sweet faith of a child!

We talked and he prayed. He was now sure he was a child of God. (We were able to talk with his dad who is a Christian, and has changed his life around, but he doesn't attend church. Please pray for him.)

As I was walking back to share with the kids of Cory's decision, Haily (Just saved.) said, "You have to talk to Leanna."

Leanna, 13, new last week. The first day we talked and she said she was saved. On the last day I had the kids write what God had done for them that week and she wrote, "I found God." I hadn't read it until she left.

When I went to her she was crying. I asked her what she meant in her statement last week, she said, "I felt God's love last week now I want him to be my Savoir."

Hallelujah another one!

Then Michael comes to me and says, "Jermel is ready now."

Oh Jermel... he has been a problem all week and aggravating, always having an excuse that it was someone else's fault.

One of my male counselors didn't understand why I didn't send him home.

I explained, "He is not a Christian and I want to give him time to hear the gospel."

Leanna North
"I met new friends and got closer to God."

Leanna, Haily, Felicity

After many talks, he knew we cared about him, he was mellowing some, but still pestering. On the first day I told him that God would be tugging at his heart and when He did to tell me.

The second day in passing I asked, "You feel that tugging yet?" He replied, to my surprise with "yes."

Hoping I asked, "Are you ready to ask Him to be your Savoir? Let me know when you are!"

Today I had asked again, he answered the same. Before the bonfire, I called him over.

He says, "Have I been bad again?"

Telling him he wasn't, Eric and I both took a hand prayed with him. Asking God to open His heart. He thanked us.

In between talking with the others I said to him, "You ready yet?" He said no.

So when Michael said, "Jermel is ready now," I was holding back the tears. I had Michael come with us. I asked, "Are you ready now?"

His reply was yes I am ready. Then he prayed a prayer of salvation after me. As we walked back to the bonfire, this time it was Jermel getting everyone's attention, to tell them what he had done!

His end of the week answer

JERMEL "THE BEST THING WAS WHEN I ASKED JESUS INTO MY HEART. YES I KNOW HOW TO BECOME A CHRISTIAN IS TO HANG OUT WITH CHRISTIAN FRIENDS. I WILL COME BACK to what was best about the week was, "I got Jesus in my heart."

Lily wanted to talk about her burdens. She had tears of pain. Her mom is in rehab. She is living with a cousin and gets blamed for every thing the other kids do.

It's not about me Lord, but I am willing to be used to share your message. Even as you used a donkey, use me!

You Lord, kept me alive for this! To organize camp and to love the kids and to share God's Word. Don't let me forget it!!! I want to die with all my kids around me!

Privileged to have Wayne Arndt her to help the second week

Michigan people continue to bless us. They remind me of the song "It only Takes a Spark to get a fire going and soon all those around will warm up to it's glowing. That's how it is with God's love. You want to pass it on."

Wayne, from Pine Grove CRC responded to our desperate plea for a male counselor to stay with the boys at night. He not only did that but revamped our computer, bought many supplies and kept the electric bills from overwhelming us. In fact he overwhelmed us!

We have Gary Tomkins staying here until he can get back on his feet. He helps around with the many things that need to be done.

Prayer Request

Please pray for me I am falling apart!! After cancer, I slipped and twisted my knee in Feb and am just now recovering. Then scratched my eye and dealt with that reoccurring two times. Now my hip is giving me fits. Every time I think I am going to get back on my feet I wake up with something new.

Eric has been dealing with gall bladder problems along with his arthritis. He should be getting a motorized chair soon to help him get around better!

Blessings

Sartanburg FBC continues to bless us. They did VBS and came to love on our kids again in the mornings.

Joel Cox traveled here to do road work and clear a couple of places for a ball field, future cabin, and for another small shelter.

While others built us a shelter close to the ball field.

Jason Mcleod That starred in Facing the Giants and Fireproof, came to speak.

Mark is a blessing

We are so thankful that Mark Estridge is with us! God knows what we will be capable of and let me say, neither Eric nor I have been capable of much this past last year!

Mark has been here to help me, help Eric keep up the property and help with camp! What a blessing.

But now that camp is over he needs a job. Let us know if you here of one.

Sorry for getting so behind with thank you notes!!!
Thank you for helping with camp!

Meeting needs with cleaning supplies

Reaching one person at a time!

We have started a new way to minister to those in need. The government helps with food for those that need help but not for cleaning supplies or toiletries.

We are welcomed into the campers homes when we have something they need. It is a way to meet their needs and a way to be their friend and then they will listen and be more open to the gospel.

Want to help???

When you shop for cleaning supplies or paper supplies, pick up two and donate the second to our needs closet. If you are local I will make arrangements to get them 606-545-9911
